

Los-Angeles-helicopter-crash

A helicopter has crashed in Los Angeles on September, 15th, 2026, around 7 P.M. It crashed in the Chatsworth area of the San Fernando Valley. The crash left three people dead as a result.

The Crash

Yesterday a helicopter crashed in Chatsworth in San Fernando Valley. The helicopter was covering a traffic accident. It was an Angel City Air operated helicopter. The two victims of the helicopter crash are identified as Eliana Morenso and the pilot George Marciniw. There was also a pedestrian that was confirmed dead, yet this person is not identified yet. There was a witness on the scene, Zareh Sevanesian who said, "It just kept coming down."

Breakdown of the Event

Just before 7 p.m. a helicopter was providing aerial coverage of a road incident. The road incident concluded an SUV, Metro bus, and a Telemundo 52. The helicopter crashed between two buildings on 9151 North Mason Avenue. The explosion from the crash damaged multiple cars and storage containers, and left one unidentified victim. That is all that we know right now. Currently NTSB is investigating the situation. The NTSB left us at the cliffhanger. Their last statement was, "We continue to gather information at this time." Other than that we still do not know the full story and who all died.

Research sources: KTLA and NBCNEWS